

CLEVELAND BALLET

MEGHAN HAAS

Faculty, Trainee Program

Meghan Haas is a Cleveland native who was trained in the School of Cleveland Ballet under Nicole Sowinska and Daniel Job. At age fourteen, she was awarded the Kay Williams Scholarship and began performing with The Cleveland Ballet. She officially joined the company in 1992 and performed in productions of Giselle, Swan Lake, Coppelia, Midsummer Night's Dream and many more. She also danced in modern works by Dennis Nahat, Donald McKayle, and Michael Smuin.

She left Cleveland to dance with Feld Ballets/NY in New York City and enjoyed performing at The Joyce Theatre and touring the country. She returned to Cleveland to join the faculty of School of Cleveland Ballet while also earning her bachelor's degree from Hiram College.

She started dancing again with Dancevert in the production of Alma de la Tierra and taught the "Geometry in Motion" program in local elementary schools.

Ms. Haas lives in Chagrin Falls with her family and looks forward to joining the Academy of Cleveland Ballet.
