VERMILION, Ohio – ClevelandBallet dancers have returned to the studio after a summer hiatus and will open their 2024-2025 season with “Encore in Vermilion.” The event takes place at 6 p.m., Saturday, September 21, with a wine and appetizer reception and continues with an outdoor performance at 7 p.m.

Ticket holders will enjoy a mix of classical and contemporary selections. These include the Prologue from “Sleeping Beauty,” and “Walpurgisnacht” from Charles Gounod’s interpretation of “Faust.” Works from Cleveland Ballet’s ChoreoLab, a showcase of the dancers’ choreography, will be part of the show.

“The program this year has the distinct imprint of our new artistic director, Timour Bourtasenkov who has, in a short time, elevated the artistry of Cleveland Ballet.” said Larry Goodman, president and CEO of Cleveland Ballet.

The event takes place at Harbourtown Fine Arts Center, 736 Main Street, Vermilion. A variety of seat pricing options are offered --VIP seating (first 3 rows), $125, general admission, $100, children under 10, $20. A family pass (two adults, two children) is $200. Tickets are available by contacting Cleveland Ballet at 216-320-9000 ext. 107 or by visiting cleveballet.org.
